Re-norm Table - challenging the norm

The new Re-norm Table, designed by Maria Bruun for Muuto, reimagines the way we meet, gather, and connect – bringing a new sense of normal to everyday moments. Its sculptural form transitions effortlessly across settings, offering both intimacy and openness. With a sail-like silhouette and sides of varying lengths, it breaks from rigid formats to invite a more fluid, inclusive experience. Made using FSC™-certified wood, its honest materiality and quietly expressive details challenge conventional table design while remaining intuitively appealing and warm.

Maria Bruun's Copenhagen-based studio moves fluidly between furniture, interior, and exhibitions – always rooted in material sensitivity and sculptural form. Trained at the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts, her work reflects a deep respect for Denmark's design legacy, while offering a distinctly contemporary voice. Balancing artistic intention with everyday function, she sees no divide between the poetic and the practical.

The tabletop and legs are made from form-pressed birch plywood and finished with oak veneer, walnut veneer, or light blue painted ash veneer, all treated with a water-based lacquer and produced without intentionally adding PFAS.

Please note: Re-norm Table will launch on January 15th.
